Honor .....Found our site.....shows that you are feeding a pet in your apartment. There is no harm in taking care of animals at home. But the owner of the animal is responsible for the care, cleanliness, safety and so on of the animals. As an animal owner, you have to take precautions against these things. There are increasing complaints that your animals make excessive barking noise on the site and especially on your block, and that they molt very excessively when they use the corridors and elevators. We want you to do what is necessary to take the necessary measures. For this reason, we inform you that you have been warned in writing.
